Sympatex supports young motorsport talent Nici Pohler

Sponsoring starts during the first racing season of the ADAC Formula Masters

Unterföhring / Munich, 18th April 2012. Sympatex Technologies will become the sponsor of the young racing driver talent Nici Pohler. The Munich-based supplier of membranes and high-tech functional materials supports the 16-year-old driver during his first ADAC Formula Masters 2012. For the first time, Nici Pohler will start this season as one of the youngest drivers of the important junior racing category ADAC Formula Masters, taking his first big step into formula racing.

„Sympatex has successfully been active in the field of motorsport since 2010 as an „Official Partner“ of BMW Motorsport. We are also happy to support young, promising talents at the beginning of their careers,“ explains Michael Kamm. „Nici Pohler's exceptional kart racing performances, his talent and his ambition have convinced us. We are looking forward to exciting races, and we wish him a successful racing season 2012 and good luck for his future career.“

The pupil from Starnberg has many years of racing experience already: He discovered his passion for speed at the age of ten, when he participated in kart racing. Since then, his talent has made it possible for him to take part in national and international kart races and to join the team of Kurt Gewinnus of KUG Motorsport, who has already made the Schumacher brothers famous.
